OAKVILLE GROCERY CO.

The recently opened Oakville Grocery Co. brings gourmet experience to the live, work, play center known as Scottsdale Quarter. Originally a California-based market, Oakville combines high-end foods and unique wines reflective of Napa Valley to create a distinctive atmosphere in the Valley. "Scottsdale's not over-served," says wine director David Johnson. "If you open a gourmet place in San Francisco, it's just another gourmet place. Scottsdale is different because people want more places where they can eat, drink and have fun."

From handmade cheeses and fire-baked pizzas to chef-prepared entrees, Oakville caters to every taste bud. For patrons solely seeking a drink, connoisseurs can refine their palates, with more than 500 different styles of wine offered. Seminars and tasting sessions will also be hosted often to ensure every customer experiences Napa Valley's charm at its finest. It was also recently announced that Oakville will open a second Arizona location at the CityScape development in Downtown Phoenix.
